THE STYLUS of 1929

Published by
THE SENIOR CLASS
Windber Junior-Senior High School
Windber, Pennsylvania

DEDICATION

To James E. Gourley, our class adviser, who has been an ever-present help and source of sympathy to those in trouble; whose sunny disposition and complete understanding rallied the flagging spirits of many a classmate; this volume of the "Stylus" is sincerely dedicated.

APPRECIATION

To Mr. E. I. Schall, who for six years was Principal of Windber High School; whose departure to a field of greater endeavor is a great loss to the pupils of Windber High School; whose high ideals, sympathy, and perseverance, have piloted our ship through the fog and stormy waters of high school troubles.

FOREWORD

The happiness of our school days, the kind help of our teachers, the bustle of our working hours, the carefree students, the jolly echoes of our laughter, the sweetness of our friendship,—if this book can truly catch the glimmer of these things, in years to come, we hope in turning its pages pleasant memories of our high school days may be brought back to us.

Greetings to the Class of 1929

It has been a privilege as well as a pleasure to be associated with you for the past four years. Your characteristic elements of harmonious relationship have reacted in the great crucible of education to produce a product which should bear inspection in the competitive market of the larger field which you are about to enter.

May you manifest in your lives wherever they may be spent, the same fine principles and high ideals which we term the spirit of Windber High.

Hail and farewell!

Humor

Here's the scene of our joy and sorrow;
Here we learn to prepare for tomorrow.

Here's where we often meet
To hear speeches and music sweet.

Here's where we cook and bake;

Here's where we saw and nail;
Make good things without fail.

This is the way we go home to eat
After working all morning without retreat.

This is Room 308, you see,
Where the Seniors study P. O. D. with glee.

Here's the room wherein we type
Pounding the keys with all our might.

The girl of jest and jollity
Who tells you to report at 8:20.

PIRATES

I.

As pirates, we started with pleasure
On this great big sea of knowledge,
To search for our long wanted Treasure.
We got blue looking o'er the edge,
But then, "Ship Ahoy," said Mr. Schall,
"You pirates aren't getting started at all."

II.

We're in the "Isle of Windber High,"
Ready to search, as Sophomores,
The large treasure of silver and gold.
A few good clues are found near by,
Leading to the great big chest,
That will always lead us to the best.

III.

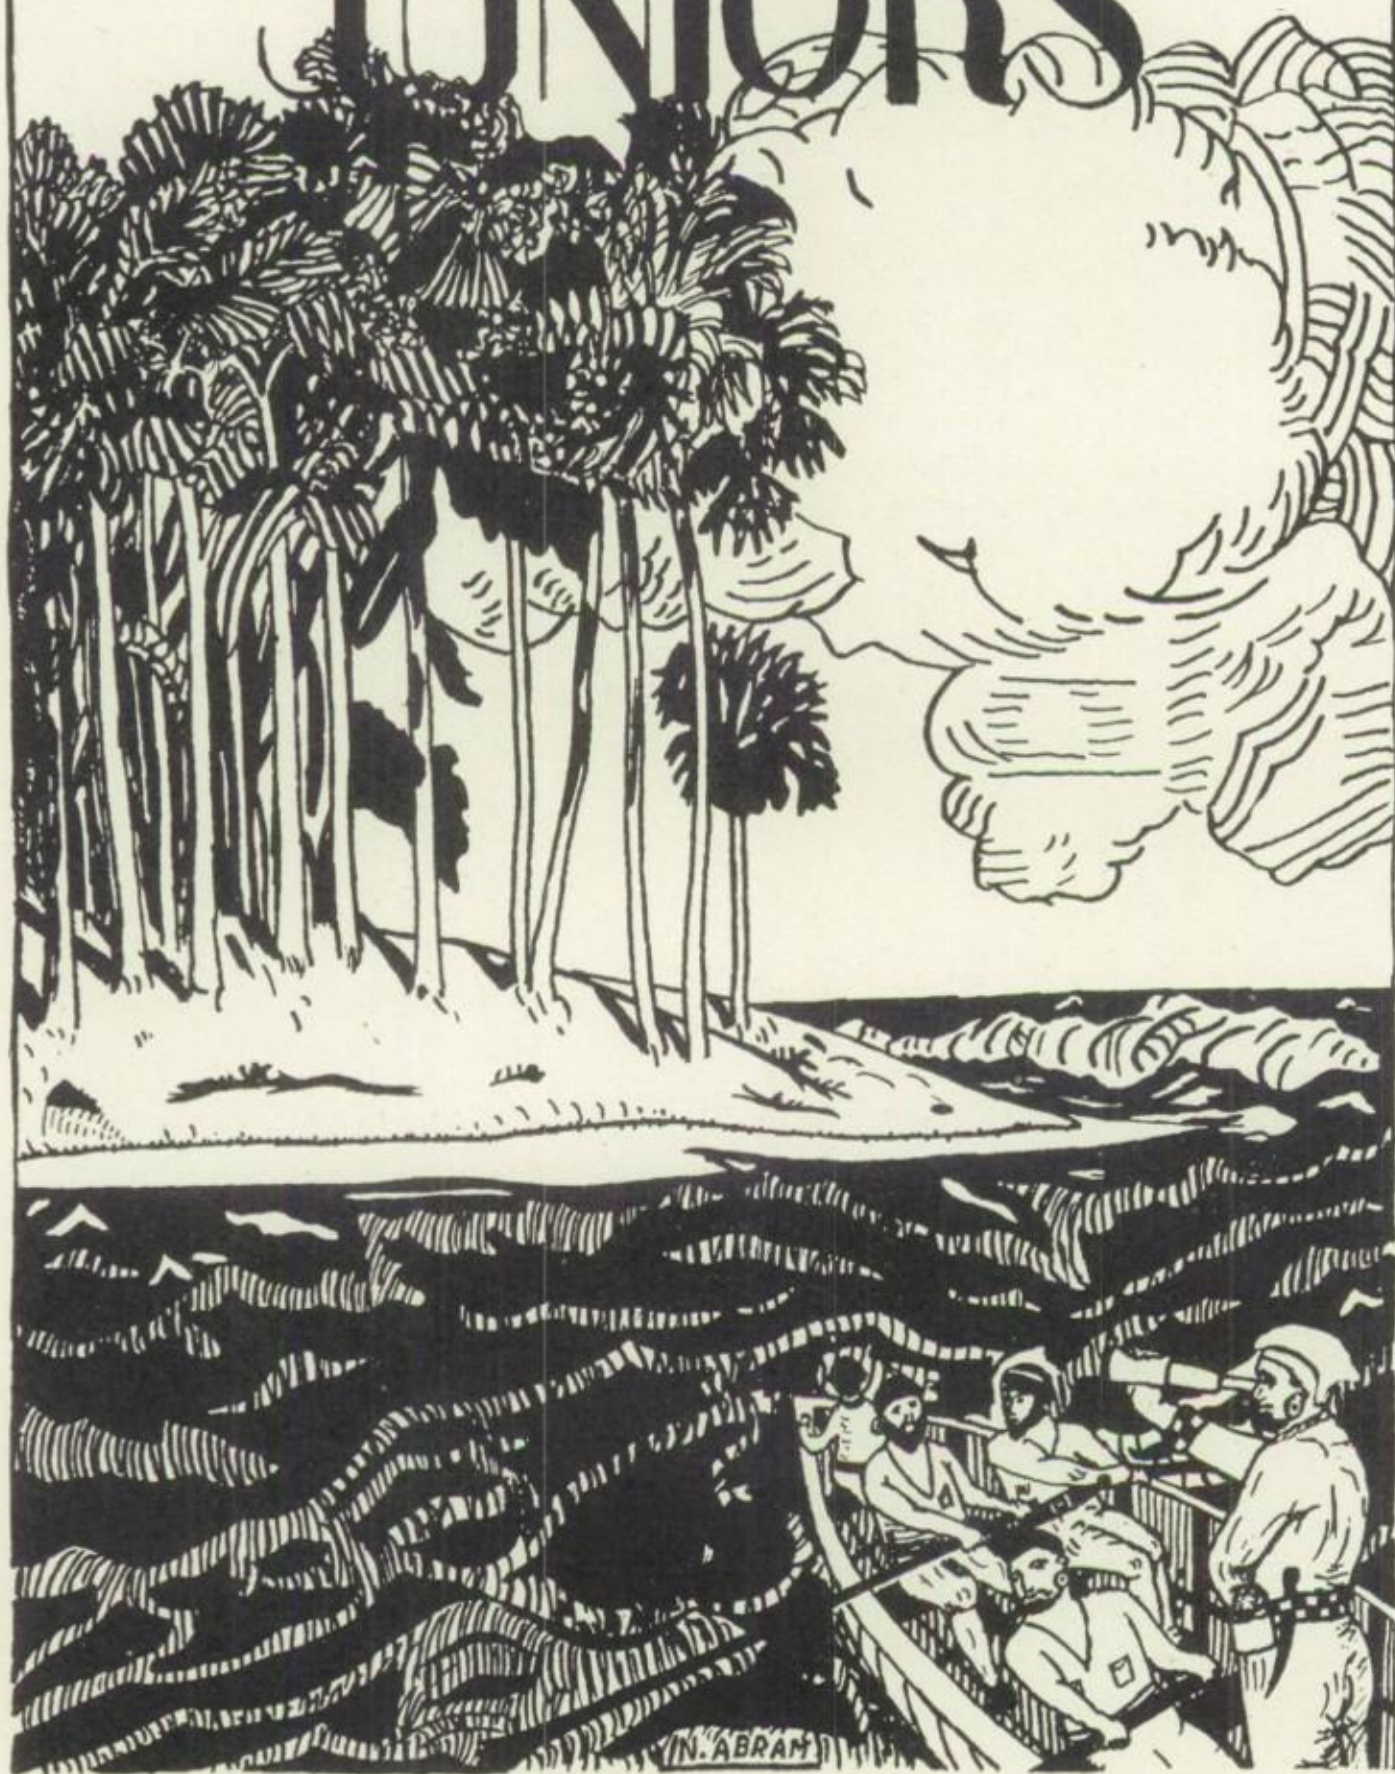

As proud Juniors, we found a map
Which led us all astray,
But work we did, and filled the gap,
And started out to seek our fortune.
But just then along came misfortune
And we were left till next year to use our map.

IV.

Then "Captain Silvers" we became—
The highest rank of pirates,
And to that good treasure we came,
And brought forth the "looked for" on high.
And now we have the heavy chest,
Our treasure from the "Isle of Windber High."

—Louise Fry '29

JUNIORS

THE CRUISE OF '30

We, the Class of '30, sailed tranquilly into the majestic waters of Windber High in the fall of 1926. Our first few months were spent as deckhands, learning to become able seamen, under the direction of the brutal Sophomores. This year we entertained the upper classmen by a gala dance on Hallowe'en.

In our second season of voyaging, we had the privilege of being able seamen, to initiate the incoming deckhands into the mysteries of seaman-ship. We did our duties well, and climaxed our year's voyaging with a gorgeous Valentine Festival. The ball room of our stately ship was decorated in gorgeous colors and many colored lights which made a beautiful effect by transforming it into a veritable wonderland.

But now we reach the ever present, this, our third year's sailing; the seas have been rough. The officers in charge have not found it an easy matter to collect a sufficient amount of treasure to defray the heavy expenses of the Junior-Senior Banquet, but we are ever confident of their ability to plough through the roughest of storms. The officers for this year are: Captain Margaret Sherlock; First Mate, Mary Jane Gourley; Second Mate, Leona Mitchell; Boatswain, Martha Schafer; Overseer, Mr. D. L. Quinsey.

Under their wise guidance, we feel sure of attaining our home port, a successful Junior-Senior Banquet.

The following seamen have represented our ship in the realm of athletics: Vincent Zack, Harve Pearson, Nile Ripple, Harry Ream, George Toomey, Raymond Reay, Joe Keenan, and last, but not least, Captain-elect Honadle. To the basketball squad we gave Alex Rich, Nile Ripple, Vincent Zack, and Nick Depolo. To the girls' team, Adeline Larson, Martha Rice, Alva Larson, and Margaret Rohalley.

We feel that we have done our duty as under-members of the fleet. We are ready to assume charge in September. Our one wish is to fill the exalted place left vacant by the capable Senior crew.

SOPHOMORES

THE BLOOD-THIRSTY SOPHOMORES

Heigh-ho! me hearties! may we introduce to you the rip-roarin'est pirates that ever were—the blood-thirsty Sophomores. Even though we are the youngest pirates we are by no means the weakest, and our brilliant record clears the sea for more outstanding deeds that must be accomplished before we reach our treasure. They are deeds that must be fiercely fought for and battled over, but deeds which will bring to us a reward richly deserved.

Our ship is well provisioned, and manned by the bravest pirates of the band. The great freebooter, our chieftain, Edward Marron, the worthy mate, his assistant, is Estelle Bantley. John Murphy is the keeper of the log, and the guardian of the exchequer is Charles McCleary. Next, to top the list, is our adviser, Pirate Slick. With able seamen like these why shouldn't the Sophomores embark on the sea of Adventure and Knowledge with great success?

On the evening of February 16, St. Valentine's Day, these ambitious pirates gave a delightful and bloody (red for Valentine's Day) party. It required much work but it was a pleasure to show our seafaring comrades that the blood-thirsty excel in play as well as in work.

These noted seamen have faithfully tried to do well every bit of work that was given them to be done and have "swabbed their decks clean" in the efforts to boost the grand and glorious W. H. S. to glory. Though we are a little bit egotistical, we consider ourselves superior over the "midshipman Freshies." We have been well paid in our own money by the more superior Junior and Senior officers when they put us in our place as the "Freshies" of Senior High.

To the football and basketball teams we have given may of its chief stars.

We owe much to those faithful helpers, the Faculty members, and wish to express our appreciation for all they have done, and now when we are preparing to leave our position to take a higher one, we have only one regret, that we must drop our title "blood-thirsty" and don that of the "high-hatted" Juniors, for "blood-thirsty" is more becoming to pirates.

JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL LOG

In September, 1928, we embarked on a prolonged voyage of adventure through Windber High. In the fall of the year our good ship, "The Frosh," while endeavoring to find the treasure, "A Good Time," and present it to the upper classmen in the form of a Hallowe'en Party, was overtaken by the pirate craft "Financial Difficulties," but thanks to our capable captain and his mates, we sailed on, leaving behind a defeated crew and ship. Our esteemed and beloved Officers of the Day are:

Charles Gimber.....	Captain
Reynold Clement.....	First Mate
Helen Miller.....	Log Recorder
George Morgan.....	Purser
Mr. W. E. Romig.....	Supervising Officer

Our treasure gifts to W. H. S. are by no means limited to social affairs. We presented the boys' basketball team outstanding warriors in the persons of Bill Stevens, Don Worely, and Joe Kochinski. To the girls' team, Gladys McFeeley, Mary Toth, and Jessie Mae Morrison. We also gave to the football team promising young players, namely: Charles Bunton, Marlin Baumgardner, Alf Burtnett, Don Worely, and Ivan Custer.

The Seventh and Eighth Grades have been very active in raising money to pay for some valuable additions to their library. They also gave many enjoyable class parties and presented an entertaining chapel program to the High School. These young sailors are to be commended for the pluck and initiative they have displayed in the piloting of their yet small crafts.

"The Frosh" lifts anchor to sail for other and foreign ports during the remainder of its four-year voyage with the sincere hope that it will have as many enjoyable and successful ventures as those just completed.

ACTIVITIES

THE "A-B" CLUB

Ship Ahoy! Here comes the ship of the "A-B" Club. The daring pirates on this ship are those who seek the greatest treasure—knowledge. Unlike true pirates, we have left much of this treasure for others to seek. Those in command of this ship are president, George Berkheimer; vice-president, Floretta Maneval; secretary, Suzanne Hannum; treasurer, Ruth Williams, and adviser, Mr. Hedge.

We seek our treasure on different islands. Our greatest treasure was found at Windber High School. To help fellow classmates find the required treasure so that they might join the crew, we entertained them at a chapel program. As a recognition of our excellent work, we received arm bands with our emblem, "A-B" printed in our school colors. Before we returned to our respective classes, we had a good time at a big "Surprise Party." Our good ship is now docked till a new crew, aided by old members, is ready to continue the trip.

—Floretta Maneval '31

WINDBER HIGH SCHOOL BAND

What would our life on shipboard have been were it not for the tuneful strains of music to sooth our treasure-hunting hearts? When you hear the strains of music played you lend an ear and your eyes to behold a band of huskies, dressed in blue and white, stepping in unison with the music. We are very proud of our new uniforms. We express our gratitude to our Sponsors for them. The uniforms are symbolic of our Alma Mater—blue and white.

We think we have had a very successful year under the direction of Captain Olmes. We played for chapel programs during the year. We appeared at the Arcadia Theater to play for a benefit picture. We have added a few more huskies to our Band this year. Do you remember how proud you were to hear the Band play—"Windber Will Shine Tonight?"

The Band attended every home game and pep parade. Do you remember how proudly we showed our colors at the Johnstown game? The Band did some fine "pep" work during our mass meetings.

Our one sincere wish is that the Band will keep on striving towards the endless goal—perfection.

Just think of the boys and girls in blue and white and remember their manly appearance. May the music of our Band be remembered always.

SAIL ON "DRAMATIS PERSONAE"

"Put up the sail! Raise the anchor! Every man to his post," ordered Mr. Romig, the captain of our ship, "Dramatis Personae," as he paced the deck anxious to set off on his treasure hunt.

The first incident on this journey was choosing our officers. The outcome was as follows:

Betty Brumbaugh.....	First Lieutenant
Gerald McFeeley.....	Second Lieutenant
Emil Anderson.....	First Mate
Bernice Abram.....	Second Mate

They immediately took a strong hold and the ship sailed on its course without mishap.

Of course the crew had to do some work and our first duty was to learn the different voice sounds, so that during an entertainment we could be able to change ourselves into ghosts or any other weird person. To us this work was play for we knew it would help, in the end, to make our treasurer more valuable.

After this work was done the ship landed on an island named, "Chapel." There we gave our first entertainment called, "An Affection of the Heart." This was quite a success.

When we again started on our journey we met another pirate ship, "Fame." This ship also insisted on an entertainment to be given in the person of a play named, "Back to Your Knitting." The least that can be said about this is that it was a "howling success."

Some of our pirates showed real Thespian ability in the Senior Class play, "The Four-Flusher."

We know that fortunate breezes will fill our sails. Farewell.

SENIOR GIRL RESERVES

Thirty-five men on a dead man's chest,
Yo-ho-ho and a bottle of rum:

In this case, it is thirty-five girls on a treasure chest, singing "Yo-ho-ho and a bottle of rum:" This is a true account of the adventures of the Senior Girl Reserves of Windber High School in 1929.

The ship was rigged, the plank was raised, each girl was at her place, awaiting the Captain's command which would send them on their way. Each girl worked with a will at the task assigned to her, bake sales, service work at Christmas, relief for the Salvation Army. The ship's routine was planned so that all on board would grow spiritually, physically, and intellectually. The program included hikes, picnics, and parties. Finally we arrived at the island and after a long search, decided to return home.

The results of the trip were celebrated by a banquet with the mothers of the crew, and thus ended the treasure hunt of the Senior Girl Reserves.

Thirty-five girls on a treasure chest, Yo-ho-ho and a bottle of rum.

Helmsmen: Miss Todhunter, Miss Werner, and Miss Ferrell.

Officers of the crew: Captain, Louise Vallery; First Mate, Helen Rohalley; Second Mate, Peg Sherlock; Third Mate, Betty Brumbaugh.

If we closely follow our code which tells us to be—

Gracious in manner
Impartial in judgment
Ready for service
Loyal to friends
Reaching towards the best
Earnest in purpose
Seeing the beautiful
Eager for knowledge
Reverent to God
Victorious over self
Ever dependable
Sincere at all times,

we will come to our treasure.

JUNIOR-SENIOR GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

We are a group of girls sailing on the good ship called the "Junior-Senior Glee Club." It has been a fine ship and it has never failed in the roughest storm. Miss Ferrell is captain and her under officers are Kay Sherlock, Helen Rohalley, Ruby Weaver, and Mary Jane Gourley. The ship has stopped at two ports—the Windber High School Concert and the Chapel Program. It has taken intensive training to make us good sailors. Everyone knows she has succeeded admirably. Our ship sails the sea of "Harmony" and captures all the ships of good music possible. We are planning several voyages during Commencement. Some of the crew are taking a voyage "On the Nile," stopping at a port called Arcadia during May.

—Ruby Weaver '30

SOPHOMORE GLEE CLUB

This is the first year that we have organized our pirate crew. Way back in September of 1928 we beheld a new person in our midst. After many inquiries we found that the name of this person was Captain Ferrell, who was to be in charge of the good ship, "Glee Club."

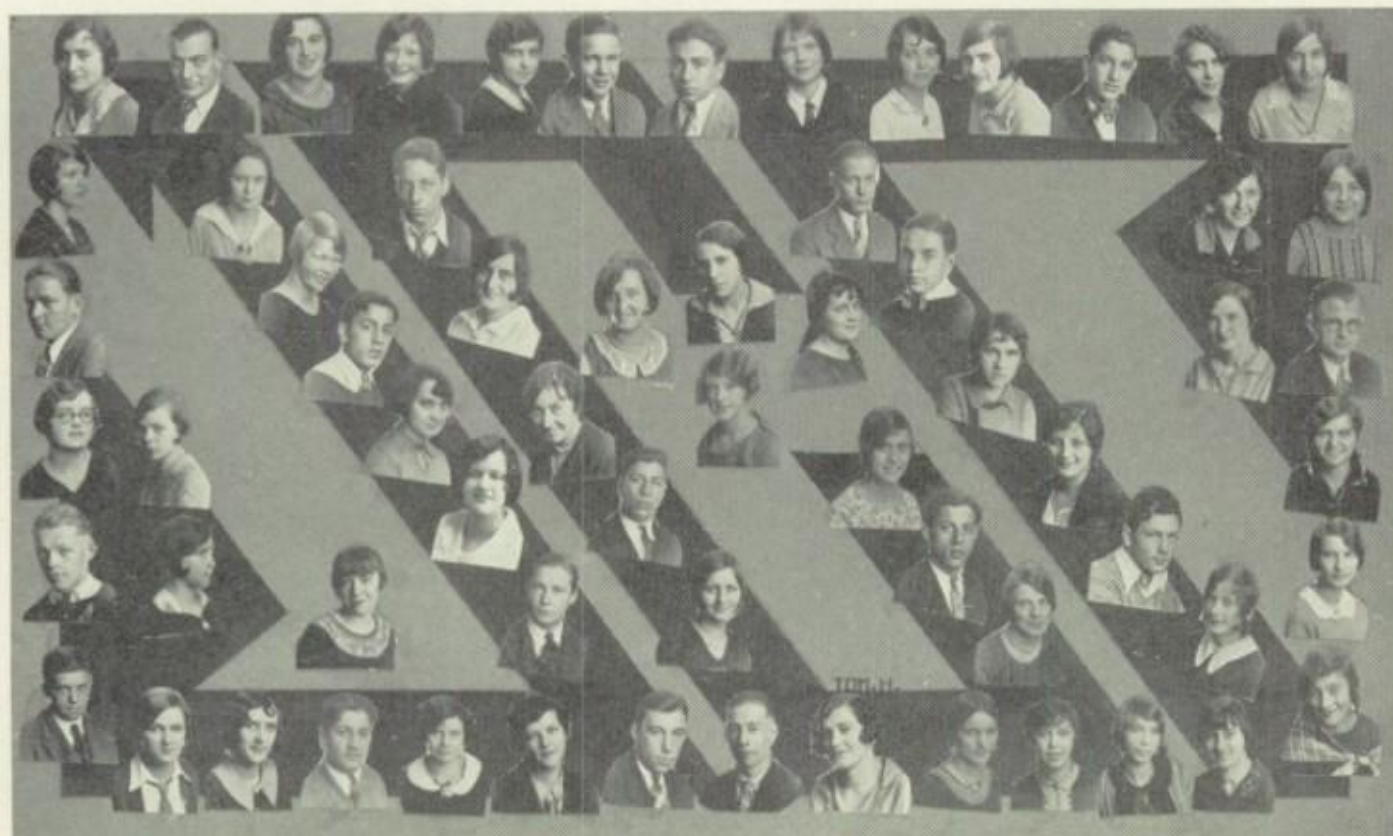

At our first meeting Captain Ferrell tested us as to our seaworthiness. After much testing she picked a "singing pirate crew." During these tests we found that several of our members could sing our deep sea chants almost to the bass clef. These were put in the alto section while those who possessed the qualifications of a soprano singer were put in the soprano section. Later we became organized and elected the following officers:

Dorothy Phenicie.....	First Mate
Estelle Bantley.....	Second Mate
Esther Brumbaugh.....	Keeper of the Log
Suzanne Hannum.....	Map Keeper
Anna Hindman.....	Pianist

Our first piratical voyage took us to a joint concert with the Orchestra. We thought that we were unable to tackle this voyage alone so we united forces with the Junior and Senior Glee Club. This, our first sea fight, was not as difficult as we had anticipated as it was a decided success.

Due to our able officers and commander we seem to be making considerable headway towards capturing the pirate ship "SUCCESS."

JUNIOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Heave ho, me hearties! Draw anchor! Unfurl the top sail! Step lively there, sir! The ship moved majestically toward the setting sun.

The captain pacing the bridge, scrutinized the crew and swore softly under her breath at her crew of inexperienced landsmen.

The crew is composed of Juniors and Seniors of Windber High School, quite inexperienced in the business field. The captain, Miss Alma Werner; the mate, Helen Salkco; the under officers, and the hands—the ship's company complete—had begun her voyage toward the Isle of Treasure.

The ship dropped anchor and all hands scurried off deck to the boats. The search was on.

Every hand, even to that of the ship's cook helped to dig. At last! The treasure! But shiver my timbers, if some one hasn't been tampering with the treasure chest! Here in great disorder we find rules on Parliamentary law, or how to conduct a business meeting properly; next to it almost covered by the numerous brilliant articles, a very interesting and educational speech on Christianity in Business and Business Ethics; here lies another by Mr. Hedge; in one corner massed in a shining heap—cooperative work, high ideals truth and honesty are predominant.

The trip is over and the treasure found—worthwhile treasure.

—H. Salkco and M. Scalese '29

HI TIMES

Ship ahoy! The ship Hi Times Staff was ready to leave for Treasure Island. Helmsmen Manges and Slick had chosen from the group of pirates aboard, twenty-four to record all events that happened on this trip. These pirates were chosen because of their literary ability and their alertness. Their duty was to keep a record of all treasures found and of the manner in which these treasures were secured.

The first part of the voyage was calm; the weather was exceptionally fine. Then, for some reason, a few dark clouds gathered in the sky. (Some of the reporters failed to do their work; news was not as peppy and "newsy," as it might have been.) The wind began to blow; the ship began to toss and for a while it looked as if the ship might sink. A few of the pirates became sea sick. It was then necessary to throw them overboard, for sick pirates are never desirable on a ship.

Then, at last, there was calm, peaceful calm! All was well again. The rest of the voyage was made in peace except for a few wind storms which tossed the ship about a little.

Finally Treasure Island (Graduation Day) was sighted. All hands were on deck ready to take the final step, for, after reaching the Island, their work for this part of life's voyage was ended.

The remaining reports were written with a will and the Hi Times was completed. As a reward for their work these pirates were made members of Pennsylvania's School Press Association.

ORCHESTRA

The pirate ship Orchestra has now embarked on its fifth successful voyage, and what a wonderful voyage it has been! Every moment will be treasured by its crew and passengers in the years to come.

Many wonderful steps have been taken on this trip which has proven of great value to everyone. Our first concert was given December 14, in the High School Auditorium. Selections by the Band and Orchestra were given; also several solos.

At the beginning of our fifth voyage we were given a new captain—Mr. Olmes. He has proven a musician of exceptional ability and has created a great interest within our pirate crew.

Several new players and instruments have been added. These new members play French horns, a mellophone, and cello. Besides these the others that compose our pirate crew are violins, trumpets, clarinets, trombones, sousaphone, saxophones, tuba, percussion, and piano.

We made several stops during our voyage playing for the Senior Play, Music Week, and the Junior and Senior Commencements; also our last concert of the year was given the latter part of April and was a great success.

That concludes the personnel of the aggregation—a really talented group and time only will tell the outcome of this, so far, a successful voyage. Let success be ours in our future journeys.

PEP CLUB

"Fifteen men on the dead man's chest;
Yo-ho-ho and a bottle of rum."

The merry Buccaneers drove the bars before them with a will and the voice of the hardy captain, giving commands, piped above the chorus. The sails began to draw and in reality we were off in pursuit of adventure, headed toward the Isle of the Buried Treasure.

The voyage was rather long to relate in detail, but it was successful, owing to the cooperation of the crew, the durability of the good ship, and the capability of our officers: Captain, Anna Hindman; First Mate, Mary Jane Shank; Keeper of the Chart, Charlotte Hill; Long John Silver, Elizabeth Kolger; Coxswain, Miss Slesinger.

The greater part of the voyage was devoted to fulfillment of regular duties, but to relieve the monotony, a party was held at First Mate Mary Jane Shank's cabin. We raided the cook's quarters and ate heartily of the fare provided, drank rum, danced the sailor's hornpipe, played cards, and rolled dice until the small hours of the morning.

The winds having favored us, we arrived at the isle in good season and began an immediate search for the treasure, our object being to enrich the coffers of our mates who are the brawn of the fleet.

Having completed our purpose, we gave up the ship and went below to join Davy Jones.

—Suzanne Hannum '31

SOCIAL INSTITUTIONS CLUB

It was a bright, clear day in October when we embarked in our good ship the S. I. C., for our voyage to the unknown island of the Treasure. The merry crew immediately fell into line, and set willingly to work in the performance of their duties under the direction of the ship's officers: Captain, Mr. Faust; First Mate, Margaret Hannum; Second Mate, Olive Mae Fornear; Purser, Elizabeth Brumbaugh; Steward, Kenneth Faust.

The first few days on the ocean the gods of fair weather favored us, and we had smooth sailing. We altered our course to put ashore on a small island, under the pretext of exploring it, but in reality to feel dry land under our feet once more. But we had not been there long when we longed to feel the roll of the ship's deck and the swell of the sea again. So we set sail, guiding our vessel westward to the land of the setting sun, where, in calm blue seas, lies Treasure Island.

When we set sail again, we were not far from our long-searched for island; but our troubles were not yet over. The first night out we weathered a storm, and a few days later the winds failed us and we were becalmed only a few leagues from Treasure Island. But the crew was not daunted by this obstacle, and we progressed, though slowly, by means of oars. As we neared the island, a keen breeze arose, and we approached land under full sail. The officers and crew put ashore at once, weary from the long journey, yet feeling renewed vigor at the thought that followed, but we have found the treasure at last under the roots of the oak tree of Strength on the heights of the mountain of Ideals.

—Margaret Hannum '29

STUDENT COUNCIL

The ship, WHS, after starting on its yearly expedition, decided that it needed a guiding hand and as the result a crew was selected. This crew of people, under the name of Student Council, after elections had as its Helmsman, Mr. Gourley; Captain, Louise Vallery; Assistant Captain, Edward Marron; Chart-Keeper, Margaret Sherlock.

The Student Council realizing that it was not a governing body but an advisory one, immediately began its duties. Steps were taken at once to better certain conditions on this ship. Some of the mates became thoughtless at times and violated a few rules. However, when the ship's laws were made known, everyone did his best to co-operate. Results soon became noticeable. Everything went well and the year sped happily on. The Student Council helped in promoting the success of the ship's activities. Ticket campaigns were made successful and sportsmanship was encouraged. At times the Council became almost despondent because of problems which seemed too difficult to solve, but despondency soon gave place to a feeling of conquest.

Now that the year's journey of WHS is at a close, the Student Council wishes to express its sorrow for leaving the ship for this year. It also wishes to thank all concerned for their co-operation, realizing that without that spirit of friendship of the student body nothing could have been accomplished.

THE HONORARY USHERS SOCIETY

Yo! Ho! The Honorary Ushers have added another successful year to the history of their honorable society. Having met shortly after the opening of school, the Club met and held an election of officers. The results were:

Frank Leach, Head Usher.

Dominick Vespa, Assistant.

Work started at once, and all members were on deck at all of the weekly chapel programs.

The Ushers contributed also to the success of various other events held in the Auditorium, by being on hand at all times to aid in the seating.

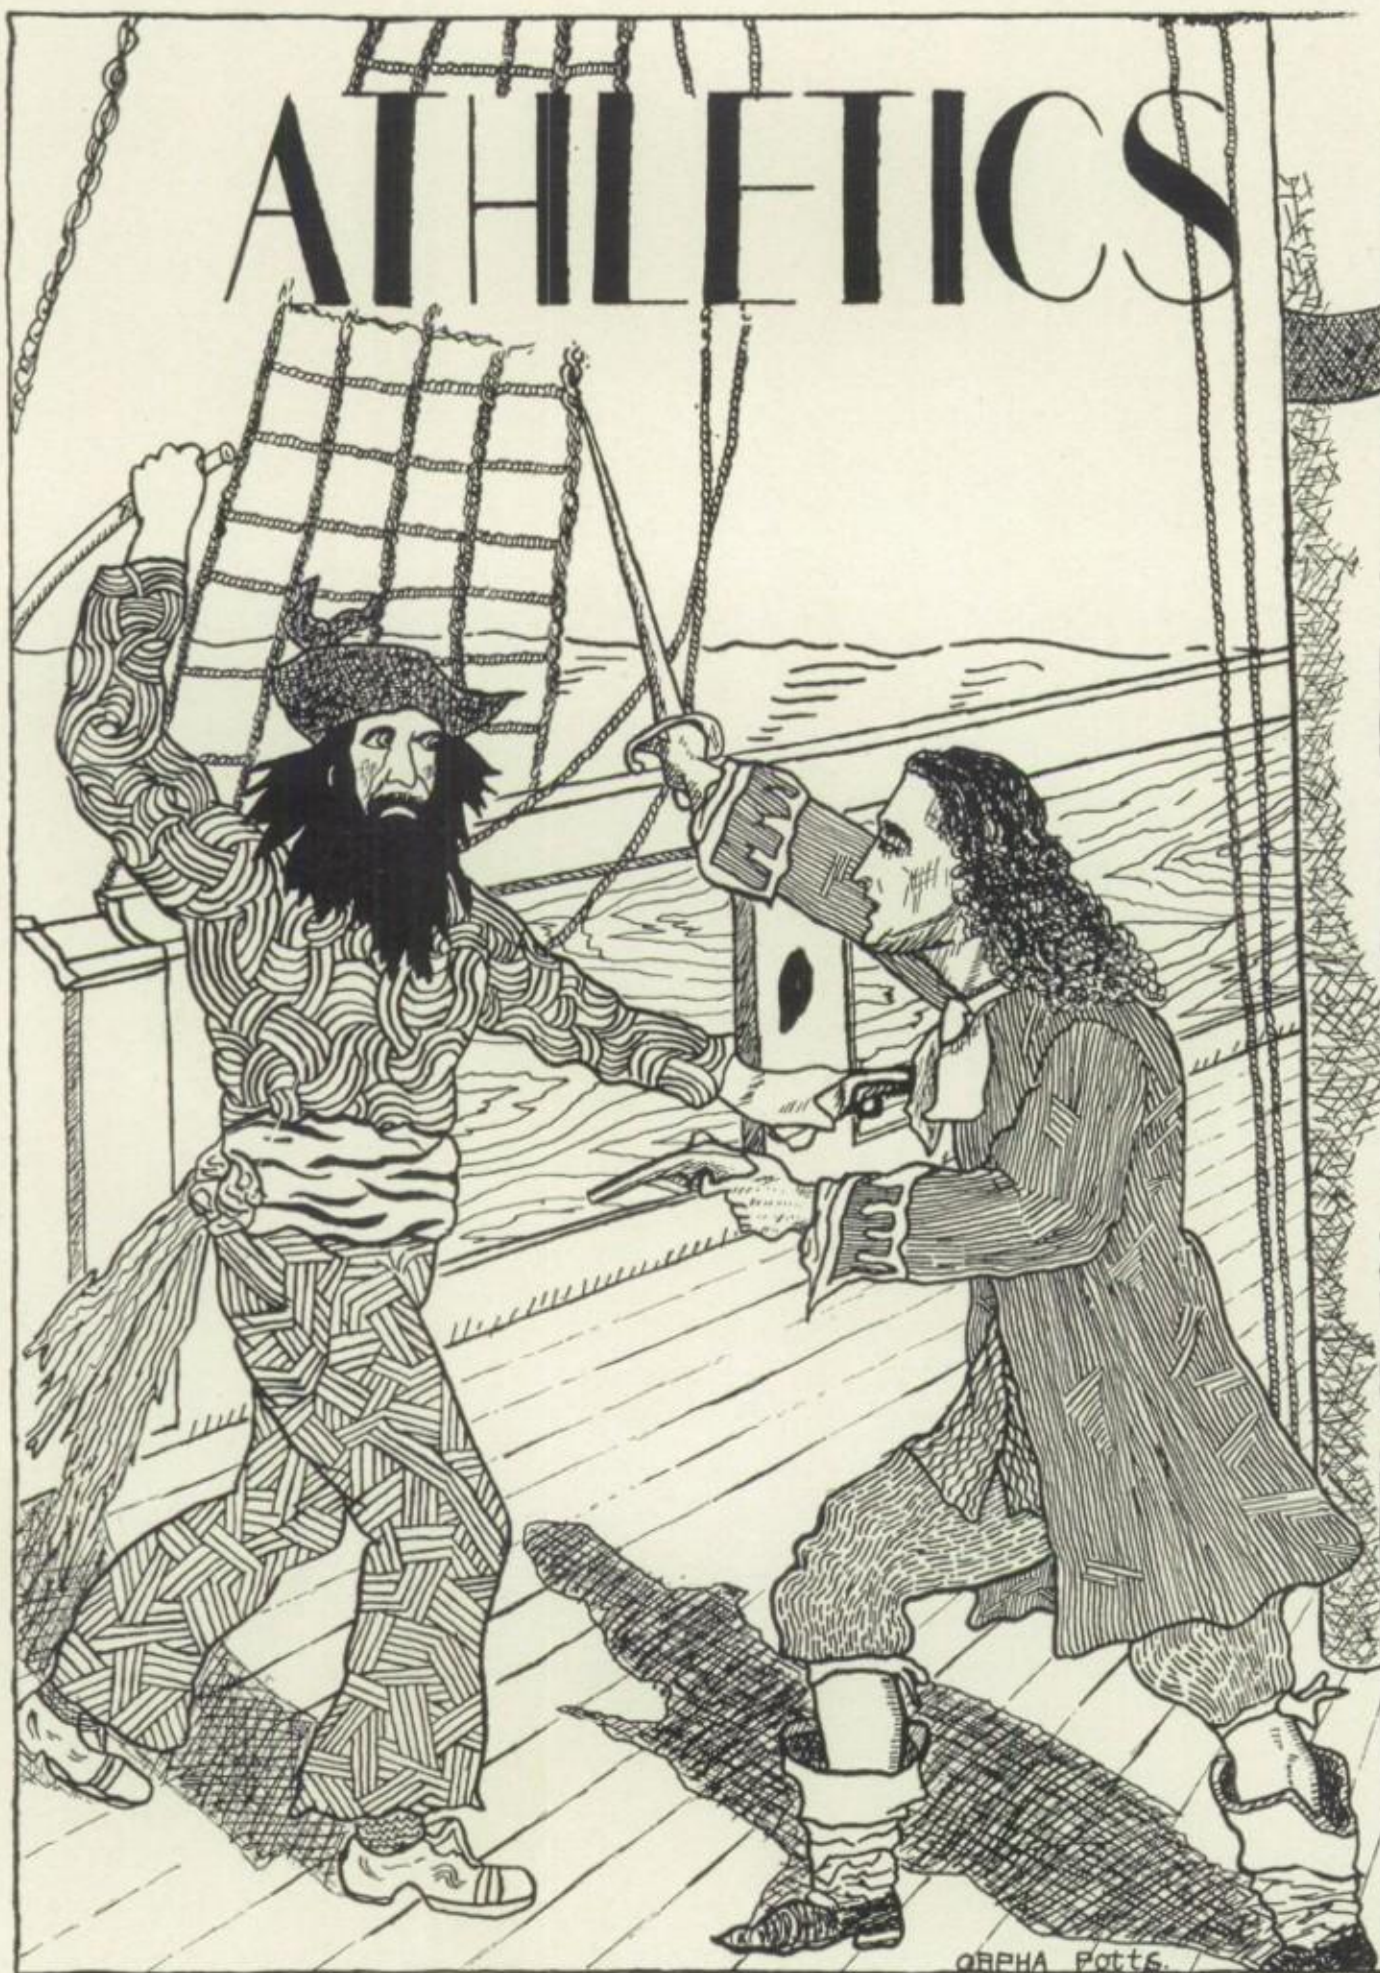

As the year comes to a close, we follow in the path of the previous members of our Society. We know that our vacancies will be filled by boys who will uphold the honor of The Honorary Ushers Society as we have endeavored to do for the past two years.

ATHLETICS

The Windber High School football team completed a very successful season under the supervision of our Coach, E. A. Unger. We won eight out of ten contests.

The candidates were called the first day of school, and sixty huskies reported; forty of these completed the season. Nick Rillo was captain of the team. The boys immediately started hard training and were at once put to work on the main fundamentals of the game. Eight varsity men of last year's team reported, along with some very promising material. After two weeks of intensive training, the competition for positions became more keen as the boys were allowed to scrimmage.

Following the weeks of hard training, a squad of twenty-two of the most promising was chosen from a squad of sixty candidates. These men were put to more severe training by our coach, and the rest of the squad was turned over to our assistant coach, "Doc" Gourley, to be used as reserve material. The date of the opening game was near at hand when the first team was rounding into shape. They displayed wonderful spirit as they romped out on the field for their first game of the season.

SUMMARY OF CONTESTS

Windber Hi Overcomes Beaverdale Hi by a 26-0 Score

Before a crowd of enthusiastic fans we opened our home season in a victorious fashion by defeating our opponents in a fast and flashy game. The visiting team put up a stubborn defense in the first part of the game, but were quickly subdued during the last three quarters. The locals scored two touchdowns in the second quarter and one in each of the other two quarters. Gates scored three touchdowns for our team while McFeeley received a twenty-yard pass from Gates to romp over the goal line for the fourth touchdown.

OUR FIRST WALLOP

The game that proved a disaster to both the physical and the mental condition of our team was that handed down by the fast warriors of Hurst High. The Hurst team proved to be too much for the local boys, and as the result they easily romped over the goal line for five touchdowns. In the first few minutes of the Track Meet the Hurst huskies made a safety which seemed to ignite the fuse that meant our defeat. Some of the boys were injured as the close of the game drew near. Our boys showed improvement during the last quarter.

ANOTHER SOCK IN THE JAW

The first Conference game, with Portage High School, found our boys in poor condition from the explosion at Hurst High. The opponents scored a touchdown in each of the first two quarters, and our boys were unable to score throughout the game. This game found our team badly in need of a change in the lineup. This defeat was a hard one for the local fans to digest. What next?

WHAT A COME-BACK!

Coach Unger's huskies win a second Conference game by defeating Altoona. With the score against them of 6-0 at the half the Windber machine staged a great come-back in the second half by defeating their opponents to the tune of 20-6. The Altoona pluckies scored their lone touchdown against our powerful aggregation in the first half of the game and were not able to score again during this contest. The entire team displayed fine playing but it was not until the last half that they displayed superior ability. Keenan and Gates were probably the outstanding ground gainers, while Marron and Rillo aided greatly in tearing off yardage when a first down was needed. It was through Ripple and Kosakowski, our ends, and Honadle, our center that many of Altoona's plays were broken up. Dahlberg and Weigle smothered many plays that were sent through their territory, while Joe Keenan and Ferline played a great game at guards. It was at this game that Ferline displayed his ability in carrying the ball. He picked up a fumble on the 50-yard line and ran for a touchdown. In this game our "Galli" Keenan broke his nose and Marron had his back disfigured. Let's keep going!

Altoona:	0—6— 0—0= 6

Touchdowns: Keenan, Ferline, Rillo.

YEAH! A VICTORY

With a new lineup functioning properly, Coach Unger's eleven finds no difficulty in winning our first game (Conference game). Ted Keenan, the 190-pound end was shifted to the fullback position; Rillo was moved from fullback to quarterback; Ripple, from quarterback to end. What a change! The team found no difficulty in overcoming the opponents in a very fast game. During this game the Windber boys opened up an aerial attack which our opponents could not check. Ted Keenan proved to be one of the outstanding stars of the game. Marron, our shifty halfback, broke loose with several long runs which proved to be very effective. Joke McFeeley displayed a very clever form in snatching passes which resulted in two touchdowns.

A REAL VICTORY

Our boys completely outplayed the lads from the county seat in a game played on Delaney Field. Score 52 to 7. Ted Keenan, our plunging "Ace" gained through the line from tackle to tackle, while Joe Gates sprinted the ends for gains. The defensive work of Marron, our light weight halfback, was a thing of beauty while his offensive was no less effective. The work of the backfield was greatly aided by the stonewall line.

AN ARMISTICE DAY VICTORY

Windber defeats Meyersdale by a 18-0 score. In a game played on a field that resembled a newly plowed field just after a rainstorm, Windber defeated Meyersdale by three touchdowns. The Meyersdale team was unable to score during the game, but several times they had the pigskin within scoring positions. They were, however, unable to score because of the strong Windber defense. Marron made the first touchdown in the first part of the game when he broke loose for a 47-yard run. Rillo did good work throughout the game by breaking up end plays. Windber again scored in the second quarter and again in the third quarter when Gates evaded Meyersdale's secondary defense and ran 60 yards.

Touchdowns: Marron, Gates, T. Kennan.

ANOTHER PICNIC

Windber holds Bedford Hi scoreless. Fifth victory. Our boys defeated the neighboring county lads on Delaney Field by a 40-0 score. This is the fifth straight victory for Coach Unger's huskies. Only once was Bedford within easy scoring position, but it could not penetrate the strong Windber line. Our entire second team and part of the third team took part in the fray. Gates and Kennan were the leading ground gainers. Marron and Rillo did some fine playing in this game.

BLUE AND WHITE SHATTERS LILLY'S CONFIDENT HOPES OF VICTORY

Under-estimating the strength of Unger's huskies, the Lilly team had its eyes opened when they were unable to get within possible scoring position. T. Kennan, helped by Gates, Marron, and Rillo, was the sensation of the day. The line had improved so much that the Lilly boys did not have much show. The entire second team got into the game.

JOHNSTON GRIDDERS ARE SUBDUED BY WINBER'S LINE PLUNGES IN ANNUAL CLASSIC

Coach Unger's Eleven Evens Set-back of Last Season in Sea of Mud—
Weigle and Dahlberg Block Punt of Lambert's and Pave Way for
First Touchdown—Windber's First Downs Number
10 to 5 of Opponents

In the ninth annual engagement of the two high schools, the Blue and White and the Blue and Black, the Blue and White returned home the victors. Two unusual incidents featured at the game, one, the Point Stadium was a sea of mud, the other, ten thousand fans were witnesses of this annual classic.

Enthusiasm was keyed to the highest pitch throughout the game as Windber repaid their rivals for the set-back handed them last year. As Windber broke through the line from time to time, shouts and yells came forth from the Windber constituency which occupied the bleachers on the Johns Street side of the stadium and peppy tunes re-echoed from Windber's brightly uniformed High School Band.

The score of 12-0 was the result of Windber's two touchdowns in the first half of the game. Line bucking was relied upon in the first half. Windber made ten first downs in the first half and Johnstown, just the the half ended, rolled in their only first down. After changing their method of attack in the second half, Johnstown made four first downs to Windber's three.

In the first period of the game, Windber's first touchdown came as the result of a forced kick by Lambert back of Windber's goal line being blocked by the two fast tackles, Dahlberg and Weigle, Ripple falling on the ball for the touchdown. Ted Keenan was the luminary, who after a series of line plunges up the field, carried the pigskin across the line for the other touchdown.

Keenan has been playing a fine game at line smashing since the shakeup after the Portage game, topping it with his wonderful demonstrations in the Turkey Day conflict. On account of the condition of the field, Gates and Marron, Windber's fleet halfbacks, known for their field running, did not get a chance to make any spectacular break-aways.

Captain Rillo played his last game on the Blue and White squad and he certainly put in everything he had in the game. Passing, the pastime of Ripple and McFeeley, failed to work in this game. Two players who never fail to get their men are Weigle and Dahlberg, who made possible the first touchdown. Ferline and Joe Keenan never failed to make a hole for their ball carrier to go through, and although the field might have been compared to the type of inundated land a Florida real estate shark would sell, Honadle the big center, handled the ball with great skill.

Johnstown made substitutions in the first period of the play. In the second half, when Glosser came in, with a series of line plunges he gained more ground for his fellows than they made in the first half. Windber's second team men, Kosakowski, Zack, Fagan, Faust, and Kohler got into the fray the last quarter and played their position well. More than one player had to have his face washed—both teams had to take considerable time out. A humorous incident occurred when a cordon of players had to save the day for Gates when, as he was being tackled, he lost his pants. Windber had to take time out to get him re-harnessed.

BASKETBALL

Having laid away their football uniforms, the high school athletes turned their attention to basketball. The Windber High School basketball squad began practice the first week in December. The squad was fortunate enough to have eight veterans of the last year's squad.

There was no hard work the first few days. Most of the time was spent in shooting, learning to pass correctly, mastering the pivot, and developing the fundamentals of the game. The team was nicely rounded into form under the adept coaching of Earl A. Unger. During the absence of Coach Unger the reins were taken over by Mr. White, who filled the position very capably. After several weeks of the gruelling grind the entire squad was ready for the opening encounter.

Windber opened its cage season by downing Portage. This victory was a sweet revenge for the defeat Portage handed us in football several months before. Windber displayed tip-top form in this game.

Our game with Salisbury, the first Somerset County League game, was a decisive victory.

We played Berlin on our home floor. This game was undecided throughout until the final whistle when we found ourselves at the short end by one point.

The next victory turned out to be a thriller. We defeated Meyersdale, after having played an exciting game, with each point putting or tying one team or the other in the lead. It was in this game that Marron's skillful shooting added another game to our credit in the last thirty seconds to play.

Our second defeat came from our old rivals—Johnstown. Johnstown presented an excellent defensive and kept the Windber lads out of shooting distance. They also showed fast offensive due to the cutting and pivoting of the Johnstown forwards. This game was played before a large crowd of spectators of the two rival high schools—Windber, Johnstown. This defeat did not daunt us though and we went back determined to do our best.

At Boswell we played a hard game but we were defeated by the fast Boswell team. Boswell was said to have one of the strongest teams of the League. This game ended the first half of the season.

The first half of the season found Meyersdale and Boswell tied for the first place and Windber and Berlin, for the second place.

The four teams, Meyersdale, Boswell, Windber, and Berlin, each fighting for first place resulted in keen competition. The coaches of the four teams met at Somerset to draw so as to see what opponent each team should play for the coming Tournament to be held in the Somerset Armory, March 20, 21, and 22. The drawing resulted in Windber and Boswell and Meyersdale and Berlin. Windber played the fast Boswell team on March 20. To the surprise of all Windber defeated Boswell in a well played game. One can only understand the surprise by looking back to find that Boswell had defeated Windber twice during the season. This game was one of the outstanding games of the season. The score was 32-29.

On March 21 Meyersdale defeated the Berlin boys in a very good game. This left Windber and Meyersdale as the contenders for the championship of District 5.

The next and last game of the season was the important championship game with Meyersdale. This was a hard-fought battle, both teams being in a very good condition. However, Meyersdale was lucky enough to win this game after putting up a very strong fight. The score was 33-21. This ended the season for athletics.

GIRLS' VARSITY BASKETBALL

The Girls' Varsity Basketball team completed its cruise and proved that its members are very competent sailors. They rode through the roughest storms without a mar, emerging from each battle victorious.

Under the direction of our able coach, Mr. Unger, the team completed its cruise without tasting defeat. Captain Alva Larson proved a very capable sailor, a real treasure to the team. Under the guard-ship of Eddie Steele, Mabel White, Ruth Williams, and Margaret Rohalley the crew was well protected from their opponents. Gladys McFeeley, Adeline Larson, and Martha Rice, our forwards, deserve considerable credit for their part in making the voyage a success. Mary Toth, Alva Larson, Wilma Morris, and Jessie Mae Morrison also played noble parts in winning the treasure.

We stopped at the following ports and from each emerged victorious:

FEATURES

THE TREASURE HUNT

Having spent many years sailing the seas, which were not always calm or untroubled, the searching party finally arrived at Treasure Island four years ago. The party felt quite happy now that the treasure seemed so much closer at hand, yet it soon came to realize that the search was just begun in earnest. Everyone immediately set out upon the quest for the treasure with high hopes and higher ambitions. However, there came times when our hopes seemed to sink almost to despair, only to rise again, higher and stronger.

Although we seekers were usually very busy trying to make our quest a successful one, occasionally time was found to celebrate and have a little recreation. Each year Valentine Day and Hallowe'en were celebrated, and each year these days were more enjoyed because they brought us nearer to the treasure. Then the crew took time off for two quite unusual celebrations in the form of feasts. At the first of these feasts our crew acted as hosts and at the second feast we were very pleasantly entertained as guests. We entered also into other days of fun, the whole crew in high spirits.

Now, after the passing of all these joyous days, the treasure has at last been found. We feel that much has been accomplished in these years of search. Having succeeded in finding our treasure, we now realize the value of remaining with the crew, and of following the advice and wise counsel of our capable leaders of the four years. To them do we owe much of the credit for the crew's success.

We can not but feel exultant that we have made a success of our hunt. Likewise, we cannot but feel a pang of sadness that the happy days of search with our merry crew are ended. Yet we can say that never will these days be forgotten. The joys and sorrows which the members of the searching party have shared with each other will be a loving memory to be carried with us. Let us then take our new-found treasure out with us into the world, using it as a guide and aid in finding the other treasures of life.

Mary Attends Her First Football Game

"Oh, Jack! There they are! Which did you say is Windber? The ones with blue? Oh, heck! I'm gonna root for Johnstown. I think their jerseys are SO much cuter. I simply ADORE that shade of baby blue! Who's that little fat one? Who? Did you say Pillow? Oh, I see—Rillo. Isn't he the cutest thing? What? Did you say he was quarterback? Where's the other three quarters? Did you say there was only one quarterback? How dumb! And Jack, who's that big he-man? I mean the one in the middle. Did you say Weigle? Isn't that the SWEETEST name? But he has the biggest feet, doesn't he? Did you say that guard was fur-lined? What kind of fur? Squirrel, or mink or— Oh, you say his name is Ferline? Well, how was I to know? And who's that one on the end there? Chester what? Oh, I see—Chester Kosakowski. Isn't that name romantic? Sounds like a Russian count, or something! What position does that one with the cute knickers play? Referee? Does he carry the ball? He doesn't? How perfectly absurd? I don't see what good HE does out there, and besides he's so much older than all the rest. Any how! Oh look, they're kicking it! Aren't they the most brutal things? Just look how they all pile on that poor fellow with the ball! If I'd be him I'd make them apologize, so I would! And just look at that tough one, with all the whiskers! So his name's Keenan? Well, I don't care what his name is! I just think he's brutal, I do! So there! But who's that perfectly adorable little fellow over there? Did you say McFeeley? My dear, he simply slays me! But actually, Jack dear, I really don't see what pleasure they get in rolling around in all that mud out there. I mean I actually don't! Why, out there's that dizzy boy I danced with at the Frosh Hallowe'en Party. His name's Faust or something like that. Why Jack, what's everyone leaving for? Did you mean to say it was all over? Which side won, Windber or Johnstown—I will not shut up, you big brute!"

THE FINAL PLAY

"You'll play?"

"Oh 'Chips', how can I?"

"It'll be hard, but—"Wid", you must play."

"Chips" Telmont and "Wid" Penserton were the best players on the Millvale High basketball team. The biggest game of the season, the last and the championship determining game, was only a few days ahead.

The discussion was painful to both.

You see, it was like this—"Wid" came to Millvale just that year and was immediately given one of the forward positions on the varsity. The coach knew a good player when he saw one.

All through the season Millvale won and a great deal of the praise was due to "Wid's" wonderful playing. The whole school was already his slave. Not only did he cut a splendid figure in trunks, but off the floor he was equally attractive and his magnetic personality had won him many friends, girls and boys alike. He played without a break and all the players were confident of victory with him on the floor.

The first shock they had from him was when they discovered that he had asked the coach to be excused from playing that night.

One night, after practice, he left the building late. All that evening his fellow players sensed something wrong with him. He fumbled and did not follow the game. Tonight he had hung around intentionally to see the coach alone. He waited outside the big doors and was soon rewarded. The coach came out alone. "Wid" did not "beat around the bush" but was concise and to the point.

"Coach, will you let me off for the Hersh game?"

"What, the last game of the season? My boy, you don't know what you're saying. Not a fellow on the team would miss it," laughed the coach, thinking the fellow was playing another of his practical jokes.

"I mean it, Coach," replied "Wid" somberly. "I want to be excused."

The Coach and "Wid" were then walking down the street.

"Get it out of your system 'Wid.' Not afraid surely?" asked the coach, looking intently at the clean-cut figure beside him.

"How can a fellow play against his own home town?" asked "Wid" desperately.

"Your home town!" whistled the coach, "Why didn't I hear of this before? You didn't play for them last year in our game?"

"No, I was crippled up with a sprained ankle. No one asked me where I was from except the principal. It's on the records. Look it up," stated "Wid."

"Well, just why don't you want to play against the home team, 'Wid'?" asked the coach calmly regarding the star player.

"Do you realize what it is going to do to our chances?"

"You know how Hersh feels toward Millvale. Rivalry, yes even hatred exists between them. Not one other game is so well attended. In no other do they hope so greatly for victory. The boys of Hersh are real fellows, but they cannot see things as I do. I see the question from both sides. And, Coach, if I play Saturday, the Hersh fellows will never have a thing to do with me again. And furthermore, Millvale can easily win without me on the team."

But the team did not see it in that light. Of course "Wid" would just have to play. Not one other fellow on the team could play forward half so well.

Late Friday evening as "Wid" and "Chips" were strolling up the street, "Decided yet 'Wid'?" asked "Chips."

"No."

"Listen, 'Wid', you're not a member of their school now and they won't expect you to stay out of the biggest game of the season. We get the cup if we win tomorrow."

But all to no avail, "Wid" could not be persuaded.

Saturday came and with it the game.

That night the boys were in the locker room preparing for the game. The preliminaries were on. "Wid" was missing. At the last minute the boys had a premonition of failure. With their best player backed up against them they did not feel capable of winning. Then—the game was on, they took their places in a spirit, that for championship winners, was not at all hopeful. In spite of the howling crowds in the auditorium they did not gain any more pep. It was then that the crowds knew that something was wrong.

The game went on and in a short time the Hersh players had scored. The Millvale team was lifeless. Over the Millvale rooters fell a hush. Then again it burst out.

"We want 'Wid'! We want 'Wid'! We want 'Wid'! 'Wid'! 'Wid'!"

So roared the cries after the fans had discovered the absence of the star forward.

But the game went on and the opposing team was ahead. Millvale made a few scores but were not giving their full energy to the plays.

The cheering section of Millvale had long since died down to a few miserable croaks which came at irregular intervals, while the Hersh sections were flowing over with enthusiasm. They were confident of the game now.

The last quarter!

Before it started there was a stir among the subs waiting on the side lines. Out on the floor rushed a slender but well built fellow. From the throats of three hundred odd rooters rose a jubilant yell.

"'Wid'! Rah! Rah! We're going to win!"

It cannot be described how the presence of "Wid" electrified both on-lookers and players. With the rise of spirits on the part of Millvale, Hersh's enthusiasm fell as they saw what an effect it was having on the opposing side. Then a sudden confusion passed over the Hersh players. They seemed bewildered as the quarter started and had not recovered sufficiently to ward off the stalwart player who seemed to make the opposing team as grim as the Sphinx.

Yes, he scored, not once but many times. Nothing could hold him. His dominating spirit plus his cool intelligent mind inspired his fellow players who kept the opponents from scoring. He made basket after basket and in a flash had his team equal to the Hersh score.

The crowd was in an uproar. They had gone temporarily mad.

Once more—he was, as well as the rest of the players, determined to make another score. Equally determined not to let him score, were the Hersh players.

He was just past center with a fifteen foot diagonal throw necessary to make a basket, and a guard waiting his chance to tackle.

Just a second and the ball was passing through the air and with a graceful dip was through the basket just as the whistle blew.

The game was over, Millvale the winner by two points. A cheer from all the rooters rang out for the winners.

The teams ran off the floor and Hersh's players rushed up to "Wid."

"'Wid', you old scout, you certainly showed us some speed," said the Hersh captain. "When you came on the floor you surprised us so much that we didn't get over it until you had won. "Well 'Wid,' I'll say you're some sport."

"Tom, it took me a long time to decide whether or not I would play. It was hard to play against my old pals," answered 'Wid' as the remainder of his team came into the circle.

"'Wid,' we wouldn't have had you stay out of the game. It was great to play with you, but greater to play against you. Let's wipe out the hard feeling, fellows—Three cheers for Millvale! The District Champions!"

WHAT A JOKE!

Jokes are funny—that is true,
But let me say one word to you:
It's not so funny if you have
To spend an hour and a half
On a joke to make one laugh;
Then, feeling you have done your best
How dreadful it is, I must confess
To hear one say, "Oh, what a bore"—
Or "Gee; I've heard that one before."

Mr. Quinsey: Yes—but not soon enough!

"Some adjectives," said Mr. Figurel, "are made from nouns, such as dangerous, meaning full of danger. Can anyone give me another example?"

"Yes, sir," replied Dominick Vespa, "pious—full of pie!"

BEAUTY HINTS

Falling hair may be avoided by jumping quickly aside whenever you see it coming your way.

Freckles may be pried out with an ice pick. Should this fail, try blasting with dynamite.

If you are afraid of hair on the lip, tell the young man to get a smooth shave before he calls on you.

If you are troubled with bad nails, drive them in with a hammer.

Shaking knees—chattering teeth,
Eyes that from them fear does peep.
What's the matter—you may ask.
This student must perform a task.
A chapel speech, ah yes—'tis true,
Must this poor student make to you;
So, spare his feelings, help him out
And if you would be prone to shout,
"Banana oil!"—or "Apple pie!"
Remember—it's your turn bye and bye.

CONSISTENCY

True grief cannot be measured in terms of material things. To those who have lost a loved one, it may seem that nothing is adequate to express their sense of bereavement. Yet even in such matters as these, cost must be a consideration.

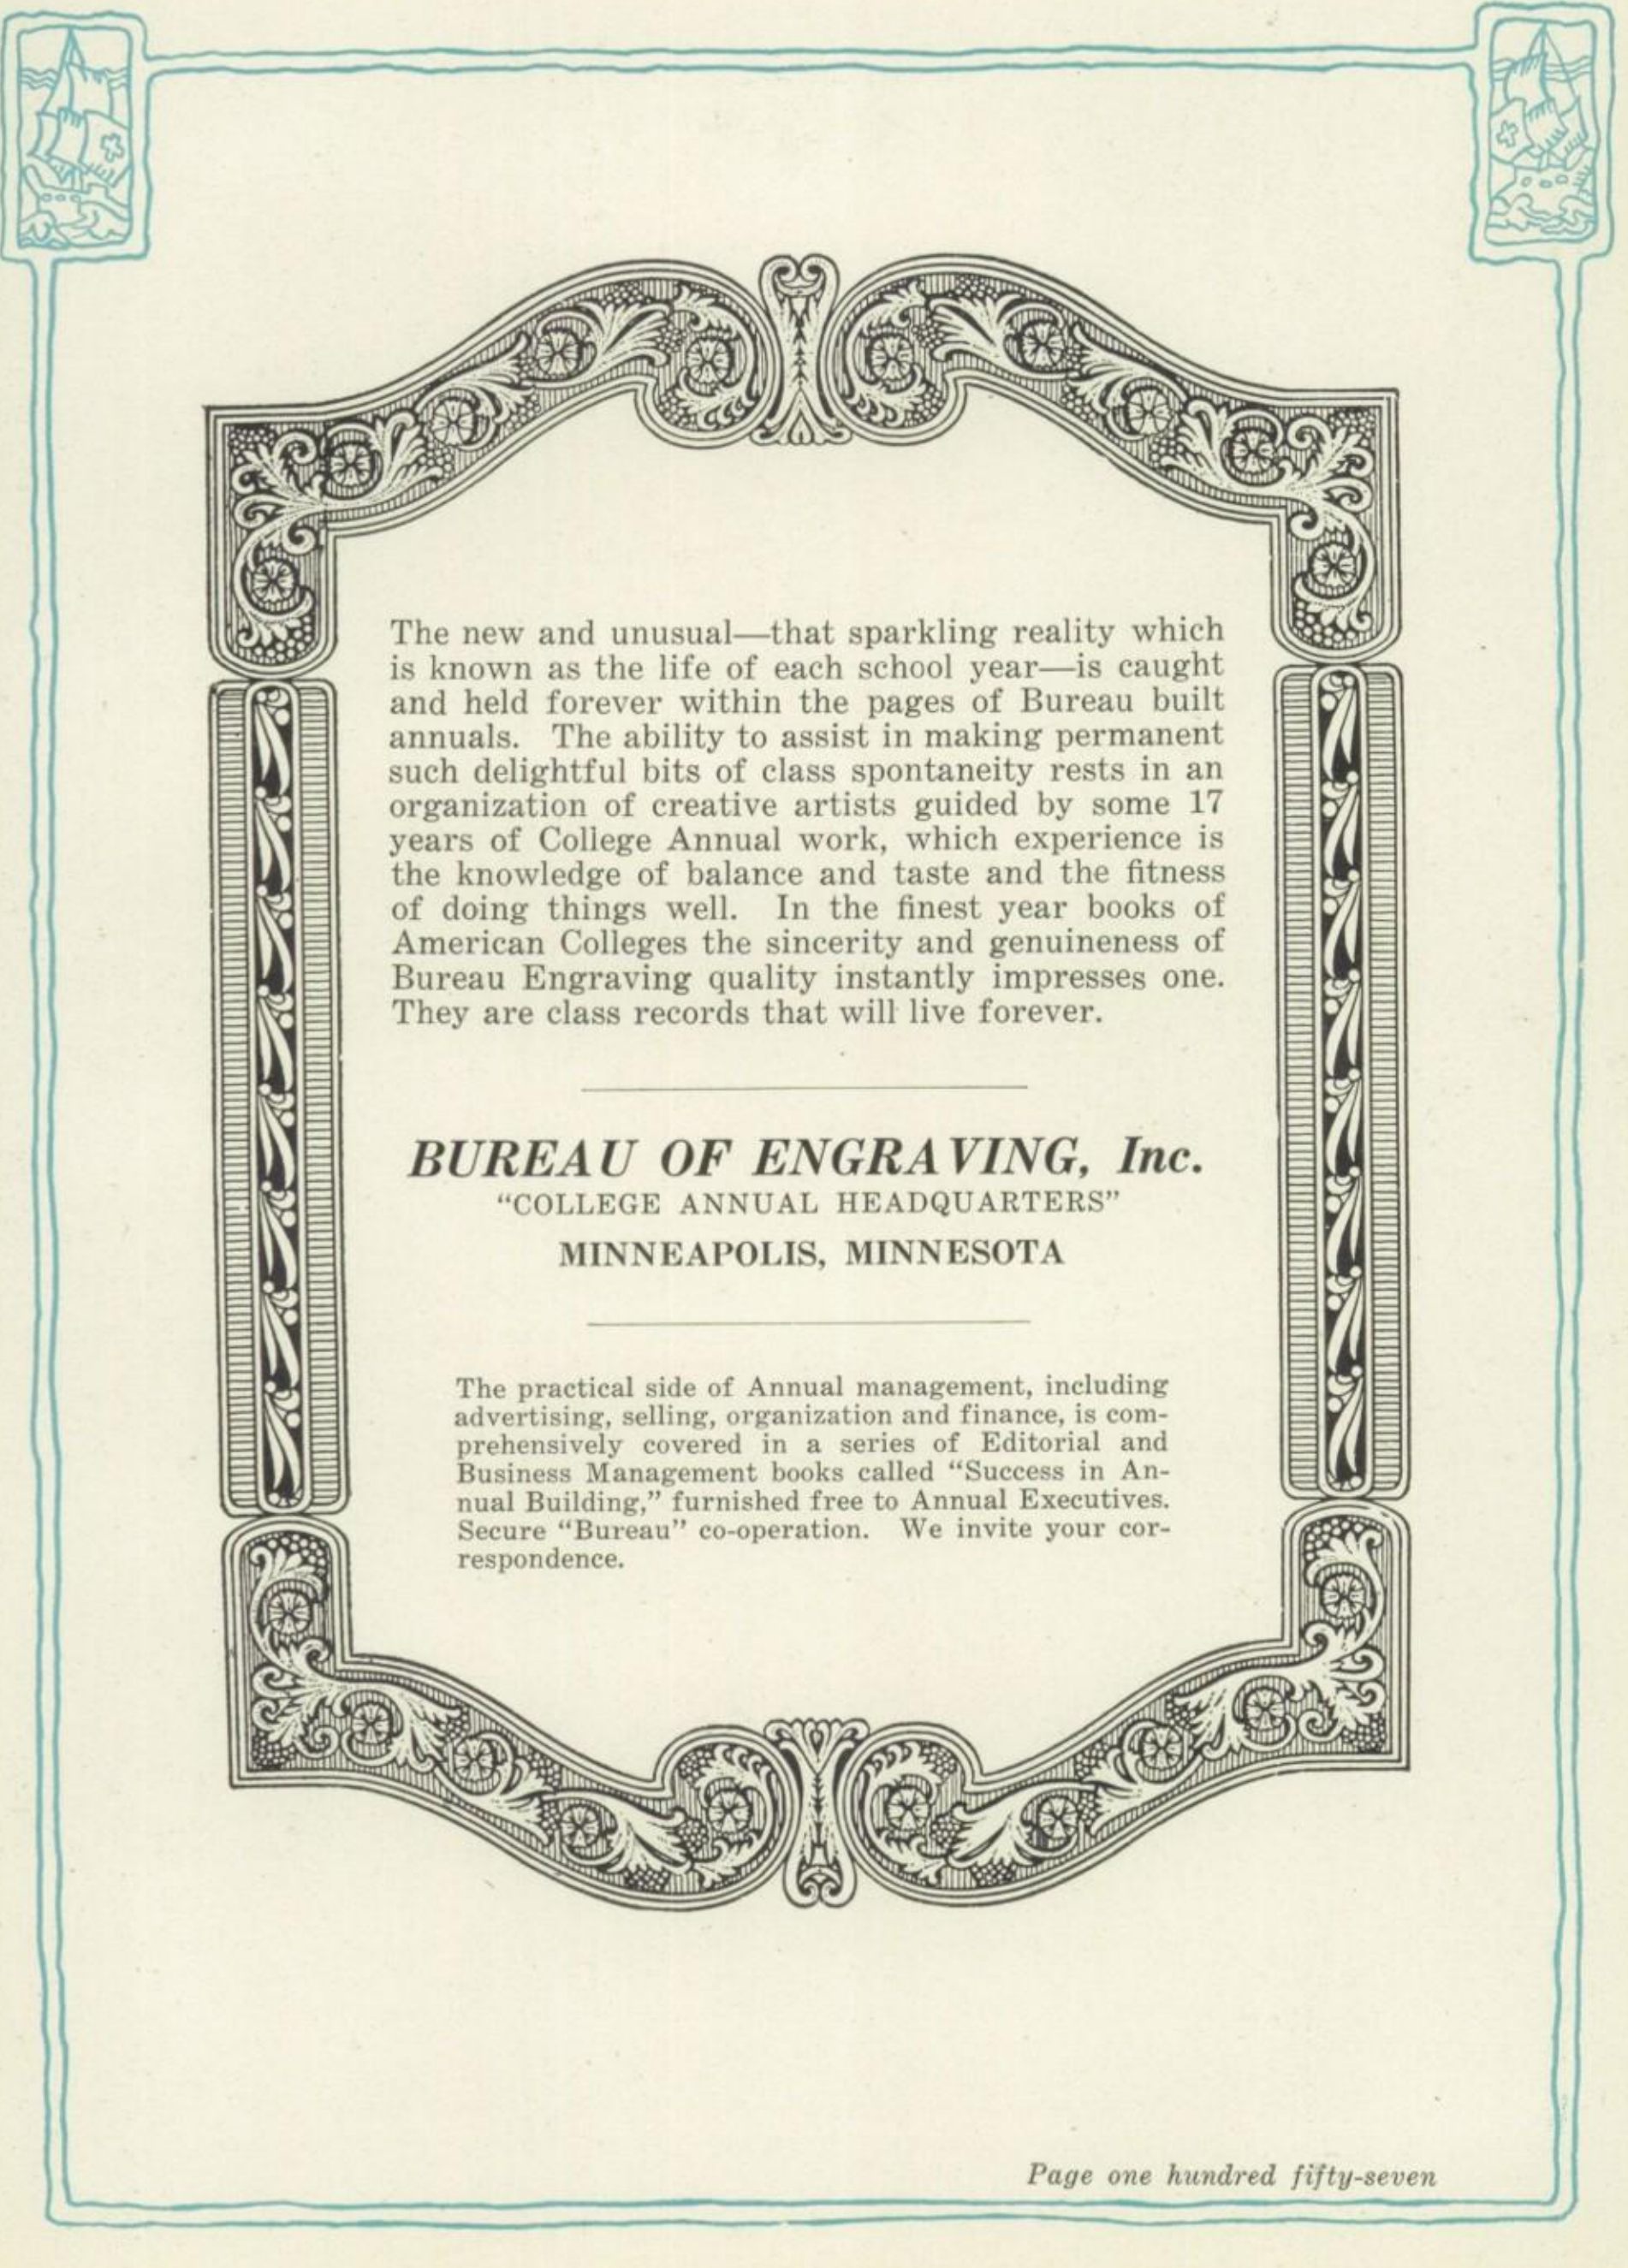

Families calling upon us for service have the satisfaction of knowing that, no matter how simple the appointments or how modest the cost, every funeral that we conduct receives the same careful and reverent attention.

We offer merchandise in a wide range of prices, and the cost of the funeral depends upon the price of the merchandise and the amount of service required. But the quality of service, measured in terms of reverence and reliability never varies.

The ability to assist in making permanent such delightful bits of class spontaneity rests in an organization of creative artists guided by some 17 years of College Annual work, which experience is the knowledge of balance and taste and the fitness of doing things well.
